A SYNOPSIS OF EPITHETS,

ADOPTED BY THE MOST CELEBRATED LATIN AUTHORS.

Designed as a Guide for the Student, in making a judicious Choice of Epithets in Latin Versification, &c.

AND SHEWING AT ONCE THEIR APPLICATION, IN EXAMPLES SELECTED FROM THE MOST EMINENT POETS AND PROSE WRITERS WHO FLOURISHED IN THOSE AGES IN WHICH THE LATIN LANGUAGE WAS IN ITS GREATEST PURITY.

The Substantives, to which the Epithets are annexed, are placed in

ALPHABETICAL ARRANGEMENT,

AND THE PROSODIAL QUANTITY OF THE SYLLABLES GIVEN AS IN THE GRADUS AD PARNASSUM,

TO WHICH THIS WORK WILL, IN LATIN COMPOSITION, BE FOUND A POWERFUL ASSISTANT AND PLEASING COMPANION.

FOR THE USE OF SCHOOLS.

BY THOMAS BROWNE, L. L. D.

En tibi, Lector, Viridarium, quo nihil jucundius indagari, nihil amœnius inveniri poterit; locus est genialis, totus, ac plenus deliciarum; virescentibus herbis vestitus, odoriferis floribus ornatus; pellucidis fontibus irriguus; felicissimis arboribus consitus opacis nemoribus coronatus.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE Editor thinks it necessary to premise, that the title page to the first edition of this work has been given in a Latin form, in order to render it uniform with its contents, and the Gradus ad Parnassum, which, as far as relates to the applications of epithets, and their exemplifications, it will, it is presumed, be found to excel; but the proprietors of this edition have thought proper, upon the suggestion of some literary friends, to present the title page to the public in the vernacular tongue, in order that the nature of its contents may be universally obvious. With respect to the merit and utility of the work, in expediting the progress of the student in that elegant branch of education, Latin composition, the most respectable testimonies have been already given:—suffice it to say, that the author first presented it to the public under the immediate diate patronage and recommendation of the Rev. Dr. Heath, late Head Master of Eton College, and that the Monthly Reviewers, whose solidity and refinement in classical criticism are pre-eminent, have not scrupled to assert that it will be found an elegant present to the Latin scholar.

PRÆFATIO.

SI Tyro quid ipſa Poeſis ſit diligenter intueatur, inveniet eſſe rem quandam divinam quæ diverſas artes liberales complectitur, certis quibuſdam numeris adſtricta, certis quibuſdam pedibus progrediens, variiſque floribus diſtincta, quæcunque homines egerint, quæcunque norint, quæcunque contemplati fuerint, ea miris luminibus exornet atque in alias quaſdam ſpecies traducat. Apud veteres Vates appellati ſunt DIVINI et SACRI MUSARUM SACERDOTES, quoniam ab his ſolum divinitùs conceſſum eſt, ut, carmine modò jucundè ſuaviterque labenti, interdum graviter altèque ſurgenti; etiam vehementi impetu ruenti; atque in placidi amnis morem fluenti; nonnunquam copioſe exundanti; nonnunquam breviter atque compreſsè progredienti; quocunque velint auditorem rapiant. Inde conſtat quod Græci ipſos poetas dixerunt, eò quòd apud illos ποιεω facere ſignificat. Sed fortaſſe objiciatur; nonnè Plato, in Jove, affirmavit, poeſin non arte humanâ tradi, ſed furore divino mentes noſtras irrepere, et in libro de Legibus rejiciendam? Inde fortaſſe deduci poteſt artem poeticam non omnino excolendam, ut; " Poeta naſcitur, non fit; ſed Platonis ſententia non eatenus tendit. Eam poeſis ſpeciem ſolummodo rejiciendam admonuit, quæ more tragico perturbatos animos imitatur. Quæ vero laudes deorum canit, patriæ inſtituta moreſque edocet, probos viros extollit, improbos deprimit, accipiendam jubet. Quoniam igitur poeſis ſtudium, intra has metas conſtrictum, ab hoc celeberrimo viro commendatur, tunc quærere licet; quid ad verſus ritè componendos præcipuè confert? Sic Tyroni ſubjiciatur. Epitheta, judicio ſelecta, et quorum venuſtas in compoſitione, ſeu poeticâ, ſeu proſaicâ, magnopere percellit, non parum ad exornandum carmen invenientur, nam ſtilus politus tantum iis debet ac coloribus vivificans pictoris penicillum. Ergo elaboratum opus epithetorum Johannis Raviſii Textoris, nunc quaſi penitus ignotum, rurſus, ſed novâ formâ editum, in lucem profero.

Sed in Epithetorum uſu* natura rerum quibus aptantur benè exprimenda eſt, et judicio ſagaci ſelectio præ-

virum laudamus et in laude maledicimus. Ergo patet, concinnitatem et proprietatem Epithetorum præcipuè in eorum vi conſtare.

Et hìc, præter propoſitum, Juvenis admonendus eſt, multos carmen decipiſſe, nam ut quiſque verſum pedibus inſtruxit, ſenſumque teneriorem verborum ambitu intexuit, putavit ſe continuò in Heliconem veniſſe. Ceterùm neque generoſior ſpiritus vanitatem amat, neque concipere, aut edere partum mens poteſt, niſi ingenti flumine literarum inundata. Effugiendum ab omni verborum vilitate, et ſumendæ voces a plebe ſemotæ. Nec Peoſim ſolummodo Epitheta exornant. Magnus eſt eorum uſus in eloquentia, nec dici fere poteſt, quantum inde orationi accedant ſplendoris et ornamenti. Non tamen ſint otioſa illa et duriora, ſed ex intimâ rei ratione et naturâ depromantur. Secus enim ſi fit, contaminatur oratio, et tumoris plena pulchritudinem mentitur, non habet. Ut flores pratum, et roſæ ſeminarium, ſic Epitheta, rité adaptata, linguam exornant ; ſine his lingua languida et jejuna, fieret ſine illis natura marceſcere videretur. Juveni quoque in compoſitione curandum eſt, ne ſententiæ emineant extra corpus rationis expreſſæ, ſed intecto veſtibus colore niteant.

Qui

Qui ergo Parnaſſi flores carpere velit, et elegans elaboratumque carmen Latinum ſcribere deſideret, familiares ſibi faciat Æneidos libros, Horatii odas, Propertii et Ovidii elegias, Heroinas Epiſtolas et Martialis ſelectiora epigrammata. Lectio diligens Lucretii etiam ſuadenda eſt.

Quoad operis nunc prolati digeſtionem, neceſſe eſt ut Tyro nunc certior fiat, diſcrepare ab Textoris opere in eo quod Sententiæ ex diverſis Scriptoribus illi ad epitheta illuſtranda citatis, non ordine, quo in Viridario Poetico ponuntur. Exempla ex veteribus et recentioribus Poetis Textor ſine diſcrimine confundit, dum hìc omnes Ævi Auguſtini ſcriptores, inveniri poſſunt, quaſi primam aciem, ut ſelectione Epithetorum Tyro meliùs dirigatur, formantes; dum cæteri uſque ad Juvenalem, dictum ultimum Romanorum poetarum proprio ordine ſequuntur. Claudianus citatus eſt, quoniam is ſolus ex recentioribus dignitatem Muſæ Latinæ vindicare videbatur, Boethio, Sedulio et nonnullis aliis exceptis. Epitheta cognominata RECENTIORA ex ſæculorum mediorum ſcriptoribus, excerpta ſunt. Hinc juveni patet ſibi licere quandocunque velit in Epithetis ſelegendis fructum quaſi ex paleâ ſejungere, commodum quod Gradus ad Parnaſſum illi minimè præbet. Exempla ex Culice et aliis operibus dubiè Virgilio gilio autori assignatis juveni oblata sunt, quæ, ut Textor ipse eruditissimus recognovit, ego non omisi.

Paucis hucusque dictis de poesis laude, et Epithetororum usu, (sed non pro dignitate,) et de operis digestione, nunc, alumni Etonenses, qui in gremio Musarum jampridem fuistis, et quorum Archididascali sub patrocinio Viridarium Poeticum, ex Musarum Thesauro promptum, primò susceptum est, precor vos ut idem benignè accipiatis. Si opus, qualecunque sit, quodammodo vobis ad Heliconem compendium fieret, tunc voti compos Editor fuerit.
